THE CENTENNIAL.

The Date of Opening and Closing the Exhibition Changed.

Commissioners Appointed by China, Japan and the Sandwich Islands.

The marvellous variety of the display at the Centennial Exhibition will certainly constitute one of an object under the sun-patent medicines, empirical preparations, nostrums, &c., excepted, which are to be expressly excluded from the fairwhich will not contribute to the kaleidoscopic picture of all that the world's progress in art, science, manufactures, &c., has brought forth. Yesterday a gentieman applied for space to exhibit a certain wonderful machine for making bar-rels. He said this machine made two barrels every minute, so that our brewers need not be at a loss to find enough receptacles for the much be-loved beverage they manufacture. Paper barreis—another investion of the cute Yankee mind—will also be isrgely exhibited at Pulladelphia, and a good many are to be sent to the Chilian Exposition, the prospectus of which has already appeared in the HERALD.

SOMETHING FOR THE LADIES.

American ladies will be glad to learn that there is a fair prospect of an unusually fine exhibition of laces at the Philadelphia fair. Information has been received from Europe that most of the large lace manufacturers in France and Belgium have . aiready applied for considerable space to exhibit their laces. Some of these, it is understood, are being especially manufactured for the occasion, in order to secure to the sender the first medal. America has always been so excellent a market for expensive laces that the manufacturers in Europe will leave nothing undone to eclipse themselves in the exhibition of American silks, which promises to be unusually fuil. A silk manufacturer said yesterday to the writer that there would be a particularly great variety in ladies' scaris and silk handkerchiels. "Thousands of these," he remarked, "are made nere, while the public suppose that they are imported. And why is this belief encouraged? Because people will not believe that the American fabric is as good as the imported one, and the Centennial Exposition will convince them of their error. Why, the majority of people will scarcely admit that American urnishes any of the superior fabrics at all, and the fact is that the American manufacture of fine silks is ten times greater than people have any idea of."

A QUESTION OF CUSTOMS the exhibition of American silks, which promises

nishes any of the superior faories at all, and the fact is that the American manufacture of fine siks is ten times greater than people have any idea of."

A QUESTION OF CUSTOMS

of considerable importance to European exhibitors has recently come up for discussion. It will be remembered that the tenth section of the Treasury regulation governing the iree importation of goods for the Exhibition, and published a few days ago in these columns, provides that all articles may at any time be withdrawn from the Exhibition for saie, on payment of the duttes. An importer of laces has made the suggestive inquiry whether. If only part of an invoice should be withdrawn for saie in this country, duty would have to be paid on the whole. In that case it would be necessary, in order to avoid paying such an exorbitant amount to reexport and then to reimport the goods, dividing the invoice so as to pay only the duty on the lace that is to be sold. General Goshorn, the Director General of the Exhibition, replied to this inquiry by a letter stating that he had no doubt part of the invoice could be withdrawn for saie without mourring payment of the duty on the whole, as the Secretury of the Treasury had promised to put the most liberal interpretation possible upon all the regulations.

An important Change in the date of the opening and of the close of the Exhibition has been made by resolution of the entered that the original day of opening was April 9, 1876, the time during which the lair should remain open having been fixed at six months. The length of this period has not been changed: the Exposition which resulted in the adoption of the resolution, but the main argument in favor of the change was the provercial capticiousness of the American April, it would, of course, be very important for the success of the undertaking to celebrate the opening on a fine clear day, and who would trust to Apri

THREE COUNTRIES,
whose representation at the Philadelphia fair will contribute in-no small degree to its success, have appointed their commissioners. The financial agent in this city said, yesterday, that Japan, china and the Sandwich islands had taken this important step, which makes it certain that their participation in the celeoration will be worthy of the occasion. The names of the commissioners, he said, had not yet been communicated to his office, but there was no doubt that they were prominent men, well fitted for their duties. As far as the Sandwich Islands are conce ned King Kalakaua men, wen intend to their duties. As lift as to sandwich islands are concerned King Kalakana has left this country with such a grateful remembrance of the good dinners and delicate wines he has enjoyed here that he will, undoubtedly, use his best efforts to see the choice products of his little realim well represented. Japan has already done more than our own government in having appropriated $200,000 for the transportation of goods and other necessary expenses, and China promises now to take hold of the matter with equal earnesiness of purpose. We hat a currous signitit will be to see the Americanized Chinamen of the Pacific slope in the Chinese Department of the Exhibition examining the old familiar reminiscenses of their home-life of long, long ago!

THE GREAT CHILIAN FAIR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE RENALD :-SIB-Your article of the 23d inst. and my letter of the 19th baving attracted much attention to the subject of the forthcoming International Exposition of Chili, as the many inquiries from our people daily attest, I presume upon your care for the public wish, and herewith furnish you with items of information generally desired. Pirst, this fair is the second international one the Republic of Chili has instituted, the first one having been held in 1869. That one was hardly brought to the notice of the people of the United States, and the result was a most miserable exhibition of our products. Another result, very much against our interests, has been that the countries which were then well represented have since enjoyed a very large and lucrative trade in the prominent articies exhibited, as, for example, agricultural implements, in which we excel, undountedly, all other nations. But our implements were not there. The Chillan people are too intelligent not to understand that very many of their wants may be better, and more advantageously supplied from the United States than from any part of Europe. They have, therefore, taken unusual pates at this They have, therefore, taken unusual palus at this time to invite and to encourage us, and have made the United States an e-pecial exception in the extension of the time during which applications for space will be admitted, to the 1st of April, 1875.

To all the world Chil offers either as a government, or through the enterprise and patriotism of her citizens, free transportation of every thing going to the fair, from Panama to Santiago, the capital of the country, and place of exhibition. First, among all of these concessions, is that of the "Compania Sul Americana de Vapores," a Chillan steamship line between Panama and Valparaiso, which carries everything for the Exposition, from the former to the latter port, a distance of about 3,000 miles, free of all charge, and thence the government take them on its railroad to the place of exhibition, also free of charge.

By concessions of the Panama Railroad and Pacific Mail Steamship companies any exhibitor can send one package weighing 2,000 pounds or measuring twenty cubic feet from New York to the ship sides of the Chilean steamers above mentioned for $3.25, including lighterage at Panama. Should be desire to send heavier or larger packages they will be credited the above amount or measurement, as the case may be, and only charged for the excess. Any number of additional packages he may desire to send with the lighterage to the ship stores in Panama, $1.25 per ton of 2,000 pounds or forty cubic feet measurement. All expenses end with the lighterage to the ship store in Panama, $2.5 per ton of 2,000 pounds or forty cubic feet measurement.

Following the lead of the Chillan Steamship line time to invite and to encourage us, and have made

lowing the lead of the Chillan Steamship line

Nothing in the way of sea voiges can be more entertaining and delightful than one along the coast of the South Pacific. One other item will about cover questions I am asked. The expenses of twing off the steamers, in the principal cities of the coast, are about the same as in our own, till you arrive at Santlago. There, in ordinary times, they are less; out as it is probable that the great influx of strangers during the fair will raise prices, it will be safe to calculate expenses there as great as now in New York. I enclose you a circular, from which you may think it worth while to publish some extracts; also a sample of the bills of lading which are to be used under these concessions. Articles shipped under these bills are not charged commercial rates and are not disturbed by custom house officers, but carried directly to the place of exhibition. Shipments to this exposition may also be made at very low rates via Cape Horn, and should, if sent that way, leave here not later than April. It sent by the listhmus, they may be deferred till July, always counting forty to forty-five days for the voyage, though they may go through in thirty days.

Shipments for this lair commenced by the steamer which left this port for Aspin wall on the left hinst. The character of that shipment is worthy of special remark. It consisted of about thirteen tons of shafting from the machine works of Sellers, Philadelphas. Only knew of the high tribute paid to this manufacturer at Vienna, and ordered this amount of shafting for the machinery department of the Exposition. It will therefore be exhibited at the same time that it moves machinery from all parts of the world. This is an incident illustrative of the Chillain character not so well known in this country as it ought to be always seeking and obtaining the best if possible, it also gives us an idea of what we may expect from a fine exhibition of our products at this lair. Indeed the Secretary of the General Directory of the Exposition writes from santiago that "everything from the United States will be a sample from which numerous orders will be sent; so remember that we desire and especially need such things as will aid us in pushing forward our moral and our material improvements rather than articles of mere luxury."
